LANGUAGE ENHANCEMENT

Our lively learners of Early Years 2 (5 to 6 years old) at SRVIS have been on an exciting journey of acquiring the ability to combine three-letter words with sight words through engaging activities.

To enhance their language skills, they have been using flashcards to view and memorize words while also observing objects in their surroundings. Additionally, they have been applying their creative thinking skills by sculpting family-related vocabulary with clay and transcribing them in their personal journals.

This holistic approach has not only bolstered their writing proficiency but has also contributed significantly to the advancement of their reading and speaking abilities. They actively participate in class by reading decodable books aloud and confidently delivering presentations to their peers, fostering further growth in their linguistic aptitude.

We are immensely proud of our Early Years 2 learners for their enthusiasm and dedication to mastering language skills at such a young age. Their progress is a testament to their hard work and the nurturing environment at SRVIS.

As educators, we are committed to supporting their linguistic development and encouraging them to explore and express themselves with confidence. Together, we are shaping young minds that embrace language as a powerful tool for communication and self-expression.

EXPLORING THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

The Grade 8 learners of SRVIS were engaged in a fascinating demonstration of conduction in solids using a metal spoon and soft board pins. The activity involved sticking the soft board pins to the metal spoon at equal distances from one another using hot wax. The spoon was then heated at one end, and the learners observed how the pins reacted to the heat.

To showcase their understanding of the activity, the learners filled up an exit ticket individually through their iPads. This proved to be an effective mode as it allowed the facilitator to analyze each learner's understanding and provide personalized feedback.

It's incredible to see our young learners actively engaging in hands-on experiments that deepen their understanding of scientific concepts. Such interactive activities not only make learning enjoyable but also foster critical thinking and curiosity in our students.

Kudos to our Grade 8 learners for their enthusiasm and dedication to exploring the world of science!

LEARNING IN THE GREEN FIELDS

As part of the Global Perspectives report writing and Biology curriculum, students of grades 9 and 10 embarked on a unique and enriching learning experience. They were taken on an educational excursion to agricultural fields, where they interacted with farmers and gained practical knowledge about the effects of natural disasters on crops and the strategies employed by farmers to overcome them.

The primary objective of the field trip was to conduct surveys and gather data on how natural disasters impact agricultural lands and the subsequent measures taken by farmers to mitigate the damages. It proved to be an enlightening journey, offering students a hands-on opportunity to explore various plant species, discover their scientific names, and delve deeper into the structures of leaves and flowers.

Witnessing the hardships faced by farmers and learning about their dedicated efforts during times of crisis proved to be an eye-opening experience for all participants. The students gained a profound appreciation for the resilience and hard work exhibited by farmers in the face of adversities.

The journey was not only educational but also enjoyable, as the students relished the opportunity to learn while being immersed in nature's beauty. This unique blend of experiential learning and appreciation for the agricultural community will undoubtedly leave a lasting impact on our students.

PARENT ORIENTATION

PARENTS! CHILDREN NEED YOUR PRESENCE MORE THAN YOUR PRESENTS!

SRV International School is delighted about the Parent Orientation that took place on 15.07.23 (Saturday). The school firmly believes that a child's education is not solely the responsibility of the child and the teacher. The active involvement of parents plays a crucial role in fostering a positive and long-lasting impact on the child's learning abilities.

During the orientation, we observed the enthusiastic participation of parents who were eager to comprehend and familiarize themselves with the teaching-learning process. It was an immensely gratifying experience for the facilitators to exchange ideas, receive support, and gain insights from the parent community. This collaboration serves to enhance and refine the skills and attributes of our students.

The valuable ideas, suggestions, and concerns shared by the learning community, particularly the parents, will contribute to the advancement of our organization.

We will use this feedback to celebrate our achievements and address any obstacles that may arise along the way. Together, we strive to create an environment where our students can thrive and succeed.

SLOKA COMPETITION

Learning and chanting a sloka holds significant importance in our lives as it connects us deeply to our cultural heritage, traditions, and values. At SRVIS (SRV International School), we prioritize instilling a sense of cultural pride and understanding in our students.

Through the exploration of Slokas, our learners not only develop linguistic skills but also cultivate a profound connection with their roots. Chanting these sacred verses fosters a strong sense of identity, moral values, and spiritual growth. The educational journey becomes enriched as students gain intellectual understanding and a broader perspective on life.

Our recent Sloka Competition exemplified how our students embraced this aspect of our culture with utmost respect and dedication. Participants from various grade levels, from Reception to Grade X, showcased their talent and knowledge by reciting Slokas from revered epics like the Ramayana and Bhagavad Gita.

It was heartening to witness our children wholeheartedly cherishing our sacred books and displaying reverence for our heritage. As educators, we were proud to see how deeply they connected with our culture and traditions through the powerful medium of Slokas.

We extend our gratitude to the esteemed judges, Ms Kalyani Srinivasan, Ms Parvathi Subramanian, Ms Parvadhavardini Subramanian, and Ms Jayalakshmi (a) Radha, who graciously accepted our invitation and devoted their valuable time to this event. Their presence and expertise enriched the experience and provided valuable feedback to our students.

At SRVIS, we strive to create an environment that nurtures not only academic excellence but also a strong appreciation for culture, traditions, and values. Through initiatives like the Sloka Competition, we aim to foster a well-rounded education that fosters a lifelong love for learning and a deep-rooted connection to our rich cultural heritage.
